

The Scroll Society
The Philanthropic Cornerstone of
The Foundation of FirstHealth

“It is because of the philanthropy in this community that FirstHealth is what it is today – and what it will be tomorrow.”

David Kilarski, CEO, FirstHealth of the Carolinas

The story of the Foundation’s Scroll Society is really a “biography” of generations of dedicated community members who are committed to having the finest health care right here in the Sandhills and whose unwavering philanthropic support continue to make that care a daily reality.

Fifty years after the cornerstone for the new Moore County Hospital was laid by the original group of donors, a “philanthropic cornerstone” was laid in 1979 by visionary Hal Stevens and some friends who hoped to build a foundation of loyal supporters whose annual contributions would ensure that our hospital endures, and that FirstHealth – a not-for-profit, community-owned and governed organization – remains at the forefront of health care quality and service excellence.

“Big city medicine with a small town touch” was once just a dream. With the generous contributions from the people in this community, that dream became the award-winning, national-ranked FirstHealth health care system we have today. But how do you sustain that reality in this fast-paced and ever-changing health care environment?

Through The Scroll Society Sustaining Giving Program.

Scroll Society members’ annual and planned gift contributions ensure that the Foundation always has funds available to address needs – immediate and future – so that FirstHealth physicians, nurses and other medical providers can remain in the forefront of medical excellence and provide life-enhancing patient care each and every day.

Membership in the Scroll Society is open to friends of the Foundation who, over a ten year period commit the total of $10,000 or more through cash/cash equivalent gifts, life income arrangements, or gifts payable after death. These donations can be unrestricted gifts which support the continued growth and excellence of the system and are available as the needs arise or may be designated for a specific department, program or endowment fund. The Scroll Society compasses all of the entities under the Foundation of FirstHealth umbrella and supports the programs and services provided through our entire health care system.

“I know not what the future holds, but I know who holds the future”
